The Facts On File® Cumulative Index

The Index is the key to locating all subjects, people, companies, organizations and countries in the Facts On File News Digest articles. The Index is also useful as an independent reference tool for the location of dates of events, full names and titles of individuals and associations.

How to Use

Every subject, personal name, company, organization, geographic area and topic in the news is listed as a heading followed by related entries. The Index headings are arranged alphabetically according to the letter-by-letter system (for example, NEWS, NEW York). Topical subheadings divide long lists of entries under headings.

Every entry in the Index is a shorthand synopsis of a news item followed by the date and the page reference. The date shows the month and day in numerical form (for example, 2-12 means February 12). The page reference shows the page number, the margin letter parallel to the news item and the column in which the item appears on the page. Entries in the Index are usually listed in chronological order.

Tips for easy searching: Don't give up if you don't find what you are looking for under the first heading you try; try other headings related to the story. Virtually every news story that was widely reported in the national press is in Facts On File. The Index is studded with cross-references showing where additional or related information can be found. It is often helpful to search first for a specific name that you know is part of a story, since broader headings accumulate many entries.

Cross-references: The heading and subheading cross-references direct the user to other headings and/or subheadings. The word "See" in the cross-reference means to turn directly to the heading or subheading mentioned. The words "See also" indicate that all entries below should be checked as well as those listed under the other related heading or subheading.

Abbreviations: Abbreviations used in Index entries are listed on the reverse side.

Year in Review: Top News Stories of 1999

U.S. President Clinton Acquitted in Impeachment Trial

The U.S. Senate Feb. 12 voted to acquit President Clinton of impeachment charges related to the Monica Lewinsky sex-and-perjury scandal. The vote, which was largely along party lines, ended the second impeachment trial in the history of the U.S. Despite the acquittal, the impeachment proceedings were seen as permanently tainting Clinton's presidential legacy. [See 1999, p. 105A1]

The president April 12 was held in contempt of court for giving "intentionally false" information about his relationship with Lewinsky when testifying in a sexual harassment case brought against him by Paula Corbin Jones. Jones had accused Clinton of making an unwanted sexual advance to her in 1991, when he was governor of Arkansas. [See 1999, p. 261A1]

Linda Tripp, whose tape-recorded telephone conversations with Lewinsky had been central to Clinton's impeachment, July 30 was indicted for violating wiretapping laws. [See 1999, p. 577D1]

Kenneth Starr, whose investigations had paved the way for Clinton's impeachment, Oct. 18 stepped down as independent counsel. Along with the Lewinsky scandal, he had investigated White House controversies known as Whitewater, Filegate and Travelgate. Congress allowed the 1978 independent counsel statute to expire June 30, and responsibility for appointing outside prosecutors reverted to the attorney general's office. Several of the 20 counsels appointed under the law, including Starr, had been accused of overzealousness and partisanship. [See 1999, pp. 758A3, 505A2]

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

NATO Conducts Air Strikes Against Yugoslavia

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) conducted a bombing campaign against Yugoslavia from March 24 to June 10. The campaign was initiated by NATO to stop the Yugoslav drive to force out the ethnic Albanian population from the Serbian province of Kosovo. NATO and Yugoslavia agreed to a peace accord June 3. U.S. President Clinton Acquitted in Impeachment Trial

The U.S. Senate Feb. 12 voted to acquit President Clinton of impeachment charges related to the Monica Lewinsky sex-and-perjury scandal. The vote, which was largely along party lines, ended the second impeachment trial in the history of the U.S. Despite the acquittal, the impeachment proceedings were seen as permanently tainting Clinton's presidential legacy. [See 1999, p. 105A1]

The president April 12 was held in contempt of court for giving "intentionally false" information about his relationship with Lewinsky when testifying in a sexual harassment case brought against him by Paula Corbin Jones. Jones had accused Clinton of making an unwanted sexual advance to her in 1991, when he was governor of Arkansas. [See 1999, p. 261A1]

EASY USE INDEX

Every entry in this Index is a shorthand synopsis of a news item.

The entry also gives the date of the event (for example, 10-24—meaning October 24) and the precise location on the page where the fact can be found (for example, 788F1—meaning page 788, margin letter F, column 1).

See and See also cross-references under many headings and subheadings indicate where additional information can be found. Fuller instructions on index use can be found on the binder tabs.

Tips for easy searching: Don't give up if you don't find what you are looking for under the first heading you try; try again under other headings related to the story. Virtually every news story that was widely reported in the press is in Facts On File. The Index is studded with cross-references showing where additional or related information can be found. It is often helpful to search first for a specific name that you know is part of the story, since broader headings accumulate many entries.

World Political Information Table

This table gives the area, population, population density, political status, capital, and predominant languages for every country in the world. The political units listed are categorized by political status in the form of government column of the table, as follows: A—independent countries; B—internally independent political entities which are under the protection of another country in matters of defense and foreign affairs; C—colonies and other dependent political units; and D—the major administrative subdivisions of Australia, Canada, China, the United Kingdom, and the United States. For comparison, the table also includes the continents and the world. All footnotes appear at the end of the table.

The populations are estimates for January 1, 1997, made by Rand McNally on the basis of official data, United Nations estimates, and other available information. Area figures include inland water.

Map Symbols

In a very real sense, the whole map is a symbol, representing the world or a part of it. It is a reduced representation of the earth; each of the world's features–cities rivers, etc.–is represented on the map by a symbol. Map symbols may take the form of points, such as dots or squares (often used for cities, capital cities, or points of interest), or lines (roads, railroads, rivers). Symbols may also occupy an area, showing extent of coverage (terrain, forests, deserts). They seldom look like the feature they represent and therefore must be identified and interpreted. For instance, the maps in this atlas define political units by colored tints. Neither the colors nor the boundary lines are actually found on the surface of the earth, but because countries and states are such important political components of the world, strong symbols are used to represent them. On the maps in this atlas the surface configuration of the earth is represented by hill-shading, which gives the three-dimensional impression of landforms. This terrain representation conveys a realistic and readily visualized impression of the surface. A complete legend to the right provides a key to the other symbols on the maps in this atlas.

In this atlas a "local-name" policy generally was used for naming cities and towns and all local topographic and water features. However, for a few major cities the Anglicized name was preferred and the local name given in parentheses, for instance, Moscow (Moskva), Vienna (Wien), Prague (Praha). In countries where more than one official language is used, a name is in the dominant local language. The generic parts of local names for topographic and water features are self-explanatory in many cases because of the associated map symbols or type styles.

CYPRUS

In November 1983, Turkish Cypriots unilaterally declared their independence as the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus. A United Nations buffer zone runs across the island.
